Magnetone Releases Primary Charge Roller For Canon GP-200 Series Digital Copier

Newly developed primary charge roller is able to meet the most rigorous printing demands, producing OEM-equivalent results

Singapore, June 13, 2006: Magnetone released critical component for GP-200 series digital copiers as part of its continued expansion of product offering for copier applications.

With the popularity of Canon GP series digital copiers in the Asia-Pacific region, GP-200 primary charge roller serves as an essential component in the remanufacturing of copier cartridges, catering to the large pool of existing end-users.

Built upon Magnetone's relentless pursuit of 100% reliability and performance, the recently developed GP200 primary charge roller is thoroughly tested and guaranteed to produce OEM-equivalent results, meeting the most rigorous printing demands.

GP-200 primary charge roller is compatible for use in GP-215, GP-220, IR-200, IR-210, IR-330 and IR-400 copier models.

Magnetone is one of the fastest growing and largest distributors of compatible toner cartridge components for the remanufacturing industry in the region. The company constantly strives to meet the demands brought by the rapidly advancing and ever-changing printer technology, ensuring that its product offering exceeds customer expectation in terms of performance, consistency and value-for-money. Contact Magnetone Singapore for details.
